Welcome friends,

Welcome to the 41st edition of the Burnett Bull Sale. Thank-you for considering our program. It's a great time in the cattle industry, with record prices, mostly adequate feed in 2024, and an abundance of snow this winter, looks like a promising start to 2025! Cattle numbers are low, demand is high. Summer of 2025 will be a great time to breed heifers, as bred cattle prices this fall will be incredible again. Breed those heifers!!

The Bulls on offer April 5th are a continuation of our breeding theory/ beliefs. We select for easy calving, low maintenance cattle that thrive and survive with no fuss and little management. It all starts with a healthy, moderate sized calf. Most of our bull power, both through AI and natural service are bulls that can be used on heifers. After many generations of these genetics, we are selecting for calving ease, and in turn we are achieving a consistent result. Most bulls on offer can be used safely to breed your heifers.

Please consider this your invitation to join us Saturday April 5th. Complimentary lunch will begin at 12pm and sale at 2pm. Bulls will be penned inside our sale facility for viewing prior to sale and bulls will sell by video. If you would like to see the bulls and their dams prior to sale day, please contact us. Our herd is available for viewing anytime. Sale will be broadcast online with DLMS. Bidding online is available for those unable to join us sale day. To view videos of the bulls please visit DLMS website closer to the sale. www.dlms.ca

As always your friends

The Cull

By Bryce Burnett

Raising cattle builds character that's for sure but working cattle builds vocabulary as we endure.

Some words can be testy and others worse than mild, patients wear thin and tempers rise as phrases progress into wild.

Cattle have a mind of their own as they wrench and twitch, why won't you take that calf? - I'll CULL you - you son of a gun.

There's that word cull - the final deed - we've got no use for that critter, attitude, old age and fatigue - no longer the pick of the litter.

We cull 'em for long toes or sand cracks, sound feet are a must,
I sort 'em off as my swollen foot and bruised toe kick up the dust.

We cull 'em for cancer eye from the sun burning on a white face, observing this with my right eye, as the left one blindly stares into space.

We'll cull that bull with the bad hip, limping with pain,
I watch as my aching back cracks using a sorting stick for a cane.

So cull that old girl with the dragging bag and the cow with the blind tit,
Now I can't relate to that cause transgressors ain't allowed on this outfit.

But that old bull failed his semen test so he' got to go,
I think I can relate to that, I've past my prime long ago.

And so it is we sell them off cause they're old, crippled and dull,
You know I've just realized, I reckon I've become a CULL.

Keeper of the Gate

By Bryce Burnett

Throughout my years of ranching I've finally found my fate, to be graciously summoned as keeper of the gate.

And so it is at branding time, the boss who runs the crew, divies up the job as to what each ranch hand has to do.

There's those that rope the calves and drag 'em through the dirt, those that throw 'em and those that hold 'em so no cowboy gets hurt.

Someone burns the brand on and someone vaccinates, then there's those that tag the ears as a buddy castrates.

So I ask the boss - what's this old guy do?
He replies -I'm glad you asked, there's a gate needs tending to.

So after the calves are processed they get sent on down my way, and I get yelled instructions as to let 'em go or stay.

Now the jobs pretty easy, even for this old guy, just wait for the bosses motion, put 'em in or send 'em by.

It's in or by, in or by, that's all he has to say,
then he tries to trick me, yelling put 'em the other way.

Now my wife saunters by saying you're pretty important today, they got grandpa holding onto the gate to send calves on their way.

Using her nursing profession, she's got it all figured out, see the procedure's like the human body processing food no doubt.

There's those that bring in the calves - like a mouth don't ya' see, then those that process 'em like a stomach, liver or a kidney.

Then there's the intestines pushing 'em along the way, and your at the end holding 'em in or passing 'em away.

So old man if you screw up it'll all plug up you see,
Now that's just her way of calling me an asshole, she can't fool me.

That's okay I reply to her -when the job's all done my dear, as keeper of the gate, this old asshole still gets a beer.
